

MOROCCO, Tangiers

The Tangiers industrial project, first announced in late 2007 and representing a €600 million investment, remains strategic for the Alliance. Given recent economic events, the Alliance has decided to adapt the project, but without abandoning its ambitions for the post-crisis period. Production of vehicles based on the Logan (B0) platform is now scheduled to start in early 2012 with one production line and an annual output capacity of 170,000 vehicles. Ultimately, capacity will be increased to 400,000 vehicles a year as originally planned.

The Tangiers development is one of the largest manufacturing complexes in the Mediterranean.